

a) Paid work between men and women have change in some work area but men are still getting more pay than women. Men and women are do the same job should be earning the same amount because its equal oppunity.

In some work forces women are starting to get higher in mangerment than men because women are more likely to success and they are on top of things.

Unpaid work is volunteeing work where you can help others out and you dont get paid for it for exampling looking after ~~negia~~ negi bours children to help them out because there working Feeding the homeless and seve them dinner at night.

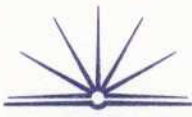

Meals on wheels for the old people.

Men and ~~ma~~ women are treated the same because it's unpaid work.

Paid work and unpaid work are both the same you doing something to make a better outcome for you and others the only difference is that one job you get paid for it the other one job is that you don't get paid for because you choose that to be because you want to help others.

b) The workplace culture impacts on patterns of work for individuals and families because working with different people with different backgrounds and different ways shows you can work with anybody that hasn't got the same culture as you.

c) In workplaces they have policies which one is anti-discrimination. Where people can contribute because someone is ~~is~~ saying things because where they come from and the background they come from and say things that aren't true.

Workplaces are supportive ~~is~~ because no-one at work should feel uncomfortable about themselves because of who they are and the background they have. By having these laws makes a better place for the workforce.
