

Start here for Question Number: 22

a) The difference between a thin client and a Fat client is that they both can work on alot of programmes but the 'Fat' client can work offline which the thin client cannot do.

b) i) Field Name	Field Size	Field Type ii) The message from home gets sent to the Modem which is a internet provider that connects to another modem that belongs to the school it then send back an electronic receipt. Not alot of data is being processed through so its a quick message.

iii) A suitable error detection ~~the~~ link technique that can be used is Check Sum which makes sure the system is working right with no error detection, if error is found, checksum should be able to fix it, if not then will be another option displayed.