

Question 21 (continued)

- (c) Assess the impact that the health status of Australians has on the provision of health care facilities and services. 10

The impact that the health status of Australians has on the provision of health care facilities and services is that we have many facilities but people don't look at how they can prevent illness, sickness, injury, etc. People today smoke knowing the harmful effects, eating fatty foods - not watching their diet. We don't have much going for the people living in remote areas, how are they supposed to get to facilities? Well they ^{will} just continue to put off using these facilities? And get more ill and then they won't be able to cure it as they would if caught
