

26) Improving performance.

a) The physiological characteristics of an overtrained athlete can vary from a lot of things. These characteristics could be loss of motivation, loss of interest, fatigued, exhausted.

loss of motivation could be caused by loss of interest or being overtrained.

The onset of fatigue is a likely characteristic as it is caused by overtraining and that the overtrained athlete always looks exhausted.