Power and authority has been around for Centures, in fact we can date it back to the end of the 7th Century, where there is evidence of the emperor, shogun herocacy system.

Power and authority is also evident in the Japanese household, where the father of the house has controll followed by the sons then mothers and finally the daughters. Due to the Civil code in 1947 women now have equal legal rights which relinquishes ~~an~~ an amount of power from the man.

Women now have just as much chance to have a high paying job and earn just as much if not equal to the same as any male depending on the job
