Muslims experience Ramadan for a month of the year, a tradition that the Islamic faith undergo. From Dawn to Dusk Muslims are not allowed to eat or drink throughout this period, paying respect to the individuals that do not have the luxury of doing.

Muslims also are not allowed to impact with certain technologies throughout Ramadan. The impact of Globalisation may make it difficult to sacrifice the technologies, therefore not fulfilling their Islamic faith.

Having little or no technologies throughout the past, Islamic individuals wouldn't of found it difficult to sacrifice their belongings.
