One continuity in society has been an individuals freedom in believing what they want to. One group that has benefitted from this are religious individuals who have the right to portray and develop their faith in God without being judged. The ~~are~~ continued acceptance of faith has allowed religious individuals to feel safe and comfortable within society (especially Australia in that it is multi-faith) with the ability to freely express their beliefs without being judged. Religious individuals have also been able have religious monuments in order for them to practice their faith through the continued acceptance and freedom of belief within society.
